The baseball law is good enough to "call the game" on.

If you think advice is cheap, just follow some of it that is given you.

People who want a taste of a religious persecution should attend a church fair.

The Russians will have to order a new navy if they can't settle with the red flag outfit.

This is the season for the folks with the short purse to strike for the farm to spend their summer outing.

The person that is so devout that they will insist on trying to sing hymns when other people have retired for the night, is a great help to his satanic majesty.

The young man who has his first love affair on his hands is just about as unfit for business as a drunken man, and his slumbers are as fitful, only he don't wake up in the morning with that dark brown taste in his mouth.

By the death of Secretary of State John Hay, which occurred at his summer home near Newbury, N. H., Saturday, the United States has lost one of its most brilliant statesmen and President Roosevelt's cabinet its leader.

The anti-cigarette law passed by the Florida Legislature goes into effect within the next 30 days. It will be unlawful to sell or give away any cigarette paper, cigarette tobacco, or anything used for the purpose of making cigarettes.

A test of the arms of Germany and France at the present time would be a desperate conflict. The last war was Germany and Napoleon. The people were not united on their leader in France, and the victory of Germany would not be so easy now.

The Gainesville Sun, in making out her long list of those papers supporting Gainesville for the University, should have included The Lake Butler Star, which is emphatically in favor of Gainesville.—Lake Butler Star [The omission was unintentional.

If the people, through the newspapers, which in a large measure represent the people, are to decide upon the location of the State University and the other State schools, why not call an election to formally settle the question? The fact is the Board of Control is authorized to act as a jury in this matter and settle it for the people.—Pensacola News.

Judging from the length of the second edition of "Fair Play" sent to The Sun for publication, we deem it best to stop the controversy before it crowds out our advertising matter and develops into a war of words that should be settled by the County Board of Public Instruction and not through the press. Our schools are being run on a plan best calculated to build them up, and faithful and efficient teachers are rewarded as they see fit. No teachers or

OUR NATAL DAY.

This is the 125th anniversary of the independence of the United States of America, which was first ushered in by noise of cannon and beating of drums, and so long as our nation stands it will be so continued. Laws may be enacted to stop the noise, but the ambitious boy, filled with inherent patriotism, looks to this as a day of recreation, when he shall have unlimited license to make the best of the field and the birds of the air to his them to their hiding places with rattle of fire crackers, and an occasional salvo from the old shotgun.

And it is not alone the young who would observe the day. The old and young men assemble and discuss the day and the events that have passed since its first observance; how we have been bathed in tears and cleansed in blood since the first celebration of the day, until now our nation is looked to as a world-power, and although some may not approve of the appellation, we must submit to it, and there is no denying the truth of the statement that as such a power we are so far quite successful.

Our Democratic sentiments have done much to draw others to our way of thinking and doing things, and it is indeed gratifying to know that we have set the pace, instead of aping foreign countries, and are the leaders in a civilization that makes the nations of Europe look to our country for new ideas as well as someone to act as mediator to relieve them in their settlement of distressed questions that bid fair to rend them asunder and plunge the old world in a conflict that would result in the destruction of one or more of the empires of Europe and Asia.

Let the true sentiments on which our country was founded be each year instilled into the minds of the young; that true governments are of God, and that their duration should be of tens of centuries, and not by months and years, as is the life-time of man.

HIS IDEALS FADED.

"A public official should be clean as a hound's tooth," said President Roosevelt early in his administration. But the President has made a sad departure from that high standard for public officials, of late. He has attempted to vindicate Paul Morton, Secretary of the Navy, without due process of law; he has dismissed former Minister Bowen but retained Assistant Secretary of State Loomis, after Mr. Loomis has been proven to have invested in Venezuelan securities while minister to that country, and now he has exalted Loomis by making him a special ambassador to France to receive the body of John Paul Jones, and has arranged that Mr. Loomis' European vacation shall cost him nothing by giving him a commission to investigate the American diplomatic posts in Europe. The President's bold stand for railway rate legislation won for him the respect of Americans irrespective of party and many there were who hoped that we had returned to the early days of the republic, at least to the extent of having a non-partisan President. The President's courageous stand with regard to the tariff hogs who are standing "with their feet in the trough," added to the hosts of his admirers, although his tariff reform position was soon abandoned. It may still be that Democrats in Congress will have to support the President in his campaign against "the railroads which monopolize the great highroads of the country," but no admirer of Theodore Roosevelt can but regret that he should have so departed from his high ideals as he has done in the Morton, the Bowen and the Loomis cases.

Engineer Wallace says he did not give up the Panama job for financial reasons, yet no one could blame him if he had.

Catarh Cannot be Cured

With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. ## Palace of Fine Arts Apened.

St. Louis, July 3.—The west pavilion of the stone building known during the Louisiana Purchase exposition as the Palace of Fine Arts, was today formally opened to the public as the St. Louis Museum, embracing in the 36 rooms collections of exhibits from 40 different countries, valued collectively at $500,000. It is the expressed purpose of the directors to make the museum a public educational center. It is stated that the collection of exhibits shown could not have been made in less than ten years had it not been for the world's fair and the lavish gifts of the representatives of foreign countries.

Young Man Kills Policeman.

Nashville, Tenn., July 3.—A Decatur, Ala. dispatch to the Banner says that in attempting to arrest Percy Couch, a well known young man here last night, Policeman W. A. Baker lost his life, being shot in the mouth and through the neck. Couch escaped, but was captured at Winchester, Tenn. The feeling against Couch here is very bitter and a lynching may result.

$25,000,000 at Government's Disposal.

Stockholm, July 3.—Motions were introduced in both chambers of the riksdag today placing $25,000,000 at the disposal of the government to enable it to take the measures which it may deem necessary in the present crisis.

A Worse Stage.

Mrs. Crawford—Now that the honeymoon is over, I suppose you find your husband has grown economical with his kisses? Mrs. Crabshaw—He has reached a worse stage than that, my dear. He has grown economical with his money.—Illustrated Bits.

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the harbored-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundance.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.
